1. Message from the Directors

Inspired by the Values and Beliefs of GRUPO RAX, our Code of Conduct sets forth the principles that are part of the TEAM and the Group's DNA — the genetic foundation that gives our company its uniqueness, regardless of region, culture, or market.

This document is mandatory for all our employees and clients and should serve as a reference for our service providers and business partners. While it does not intend to address every possible situation inherent to the daily development of business activities, it provides clear and non-negotiable guidelines.

We emphasize that the Code of Conduct is not intended to restrict business development. On the contrary, it aims to add value, support growth, and foster the continuous pursuit of excellence, acting in an integrated manner with GRUPO RAX's commitments to integrity, sustainability, social responsibility, and corporate governance (ESG).

In compliance with applicable legislation, the Code does not merely exhaustively list conducts, but rather establishes the minimum and non-negotiable standards of behavior that must be followed, including the rules, procedures, and values of GRUPO RAX.

It is of utmost importance that all actions taken by our employees are aligned with the principles set forth in this Code of Ethics, which serves as the compass guiding our responsible conduct. It is the duty of everyone to read, understand, and respect the values, principles, and recommendations presented herein.

2. Scope

This Code of Conduct applies to all contracts entered into by the RAX GROUP, including the companies RAX BRAZIL FOREIGN TRADE ADVISORY LTD and LEG RAX BUSINESS CONSULTING LTD. All members of the group, regardless of their hierarchical level, are required to fully comply with the guidelines established in this code.

All Business Partners of the RAX GROUP receive a copy of this code and are directly influenced to adhere to its guidelines. They should be aware that any violation of the Code of Conduct is equivalent to a breach of contractual obligations.

The RAX GROUP promotes training to disseminate and consolidate the rules contained in this Code of Ethics, as well as to provide guidance on the Risk Management and Anti-Bribery Policy.

3. Definitions

The RAX GROUP seeks the development of its full potential based on the following guidelines:

MISSION

To deliver comprehensive and customized foreign trade advisory solutions, operating with excellence, innovation, and commitment. More than services, we provide trust, operational security, and consistent results for our clients' import and export processes.

VISION

To be a benchmark in foreign trade advisory services, recognized for technical excellence, international certifications, innovation in systems and processes, and the ability to transform challenges into opportunities that generate value and drive business growth.

VALUES

The professional conduct of employees and GRUPO RAX must be aligned with the following values:

I. Commitment to Excellence – Deliver foreign trade services with technical rigor, quality, regulatory compliance, and a strong focus on results.

II. Continuous Innovation – Pursue solutions, technologies, and improvements that make foreign trade processes more agile, secure, efficient, and sustainable.

III. Integrity and Ethics – Act with transparency, responsibility, and full compliance with applicable laws, anti-corruption standards, customs regulations, and regulatory requirements.

IV. Care for People – Value human relationships by promoting inclusion, professional development, physical and mental well-being, and a respectful and safe work environment.

V. Collaborative Ownership – Act with initiative and accountability, strengthening teamwork and believing that the best solutions emerge from collective collaboration.

VI. Social, Environmental, and Climate Responsibility (ESG) – Conduct business ethically and sustainably, considering environmental, social, and governance impacts, with a commitment to environmental preservation, climate risk mitigation, and the promotion of responsible practices throughout the logistics chain.

4. Compliance with the law

The RAX GROUP strives to ensure that, in addition to complying with this Code of Conduct, our employees comply with all laws applicable to their activities, including, but not limited to, the Constitution of the Federative Republic of Brazil, legislation on industrial property, labor, anti-corruption, and all other applicable regulations.

5. Respect for people

GRUPO RAX values diversity, courtesy, impartiality, and respect for people in its work environment, and repudiates any acts of discrimination, harassment, or retaliation.

Respect and order must prevail in the workplace in order to prevent moral, economic, or sexual harassment, as well as situations involving pressure, intimidation, or threats in relationships among employees, clients, suppliers, and/or service providers, regardless of hierarchical level.

Just as we respect our external clients, we require the same conduct in internal client–internal supplier relationships.

GRUPO RAX recognizes the importance of mental health and psychological well-being in the workplace and is committed to preventing psychosocial risks, in accordance with Regulatory Standard No. 1 (NR-1) and other applicable legislation.

The company promotes a safe, healthy, and respectful environment, adopting measures to identify, prevent, and mitigate factors that may contribute to psychological distress, such as harassment, excessive workload, undue pressure, or inadequate working conditions.

It is everyone's responsibility to contribute to the maintenance of a healthy organizational environment, based on respect, dialogue, and shared responsibility.

6. Intellectual Property

The RAX GROUP respects and complies with Intellectual Property laws, vehemently condemning any form of infringement of industrial property, copyright, trade secrets, or improper acquisition of confidential information about products and services. Customers, employees, suppliers, or service providers of the group are not allowed to disclose or encourage third parties to disclose or use any company, customer, or third-party secrets.

These secrets include, but are not limited to: technical developments, confidential information from documents received from customers, business strategies, business plans, corporate structures, cost data, and pricing information.

The RAX GROUP fulfills its contractual obligations and provides services for which it is duly qualified and equipped, delivering what it commits to do with commitment and quality.

7. Transparency

We at the RAX GROUP believe that business and personal relationships based on transparency are enduring and effective. Therefore, we are open to communication, dialogue, and new ideas, always seeking the best solution to the issues that affect our customers, employees, suppliers, partners, and society at large.

8. Anti-Corruption and Anti-Bribery

The RAX GROUP maintains a transparent relationship with public officials and government entities, always observing the ethical principles established in this Code.

We have a zero-tolerance policy for any form of bribery or corruption, in any business sector. It is prohibited for any employee, supplier, service provider, or partner acting on behalf of the group to offer or receive bribes or undue advantages, either directly or through third parties. All group employees are prohibited from engaging in acts that, in accordance with Law No. 12,846/2013 (Brazilian Anti-Corruption Law), are harmful to the national or foreign public administration.

It is prohibited for any employee, acting on behalf of the RAX GROUP, to offer, promise, authorize, or pay any values, whether in cash, goods, services, gifts, entertainment, travel, or benefits, to government authorities, public or private companies, institutions, public officials, suppliers, partners, or any person, whether individual or legal, public or private, with the intention of influencing any action or seeking undue favorable treatment or an improper advantage, or causing the individual to violate any of their duties.

Likewise, under no circumstances should employees receive any benefits, directly or indirectly, that may influence the exercise of their activities.

Furthermore, the RAX GROUP does not condone any form of corruption, fraud, or kickbacks, whether with public or private entities.

A commercial courtesy, such as a gift or token, may be offered, as long as it is limited to the value of R$ 200.00 (two hundred reais), and the giving of cash gifts or presents is prohibited.

The anti-corruption and anti-bribery practices of GRUPO RAX are aligned with the principles of Corporate Governance, reinforcing the company's commitment to ethics, transparency, institutional responsibility, and the long-term sustainability of its business.

9. Gifts, Presents, and Hospitality

Employees of the RAX GROUP may not accept gifts or advantages on their behalf or on behalf of their family, or obtain special favors that compromise any type of negotiation conducted on behalf of the group.

Invitations to events with expenses covered by customers, suppliers, government agencies, and others can only be accepted when there is a real opportunity for the development of a business relationship, and they have been equally extended to professionals from other companies, with the knowledge and authorization of senior management.

Offering or receiving cash gifts for any reason is prohibited.

10. Government and Regulatory Authorities

The conduct of everyone towards national or foreign public administration agents should be characterized by integrity, transparency, ethics, and morality, ensuring compliance with our ethical guidelines, and strongly discouraging any granting of advantages or privileges to public officials. There is a commitment to preventing and combatting corruption in all its forms.

The term "public administration" includes managers or employees of any state or government legal entity or agency at any level, including managers or employees of state-owned companies and international public organizations. It also includes political candidates, managers, and employees of political parties.

Under no circumstances may employees promise, offer, or provide, directly or indirectly, undue advantages to them or to any third party related to them.

It is also prohibited to obstruct the actions of regulatory authorities, as well as to finance, fund, sponsor, or in any way subsidize the commission of illegal acts as described in Law No. 12,846/2013.

11. Expected conduct

The conduct of everyone who becomes directly or indirectly involved in the activities of the RAX GROUP (customers, service providers, employees, government officials, suppliers), regardless of their position or role, should be guided by the company's values and principles.

While positive and constructive conduct will be celebrated, there will be administrative sanctions for those considered unacceptable.

12. Unacceptable conduct

Under no circumstances will the following be tolerated in the workplace or elsewhere: moral and sexual harassment; disrespectful, discourteous, threatening, or discriminatory treatment of any person, regardless of their hierarchical level, position, or role; discrimination based on social origin, race, color, gender, age, religion, physical characteristics, or sexual orientation.

The use of company systems and resources for activities other than the specific professional tasks assigned to the employee or for the dissemination of rumors, pornography, jokes, games, or political party advertisements is strictly prohibited.

Working under the influence of alcohol or illegal drugs is not allowed, as well as any actions that may cause damage to the company's property, in addition to other behaviors specified in Article 482 of the Consolidation of Labor Laws.

Furthermore, expressing oneself on behalf of the company, including on social media, blogs, or any other type of platform or media, without prior authorization is prohibited.

13. Conflict of interest

A aceitação ou a oferta de presentes comerciais entre colaboradores e Prestadores de Serviços pode constituir conflito de interesses e prejudicar nossa credibilidade, expondo ao GRUPO RAX a alegações de que decisões comerciais não são influenciadas por fatores puramente meritórios e transparentes.

The acceptance or offering of business gifts between employees and Service Providers may constitute a conflict of interest and harm our credibility, exposing the RAX GROUP to allegations that business decisions are not influenced by purely merit-based and transparent factors.

Service Providers should not offer, obtain, or accept business gifts, defined as gifts in general, tokens, entertainment, or travel, in their relationship with RAX GROUP employees.

If a Service Provider has doubts about whether a particular act or conduct may create a conflict of interest, they should immediately contact the RAX GROUP.

13.1 Examples of conflict of interest

I. The possibility of obtaining any advantage, whether financial or not, directly or indirectly.

II. Personal relationships with third parties that may influence the faithful execution of the employee's professional activities, including circumstances involving their family members, friends, or adversaries.

III. Requesting or consenting to the receipt of gifts, favors, or any type of undue advantage from customers, suppliers, competitors, or other individuals who are related to or have an interest in relating to the RAX GROUP.

IV. Misusing the tangible or intangible assets of the RAX GROUP, including its facilities, equipment, emails, and confidential information, for purposes unrelated to the direct duties of their position.

V. Making hirings with favoritism, directly participating in the decision regarding the hiring or promotion of a spouse, relative, close friend, or adversary.

VI. Using the prerogatives of their position for purposes unrelated to those pursued by the RAX GROUP.

14. Relationship with Customers, Business Partners, and Stakeholders

Maintaining good relationships with customers, business partners, and stakeholders is of fundamental importance to the company.

Every interaction with third parties, whether formal or verbal, must be guided by ethics, transparency, impartiality, longevity, and a professional demeanor, always avoiding judgments, attitudes, or statements that could jeopardize the image or objectives of the RAX GROUP.

Situations involving manipulation, concealment, data tampering, the use of insider information, false statements, or any other act aimed at obtaining an unfair advantage are strictly prohibited. The RAX GROUP prohibits any form of bribery, kickbacks, or similar acts, whether made directly or indirectly to customers, partners, or suppliers, with the aim of winning, retaining business, or obtaining any other form of favor.

The application of the rules in this Code is mandatory in the execution of any negotiation.

The hiring of service provider companies whose partner or partners are first or second-degree relatives of any RAX GROUP employee can only be done after formal approval from the management and/or compliance department.

The RAX GROUP reserves the right, in the hiring of Business Partners, to carry out Due Diligence actions.

Hiring third parties to engage in any act prohibited by law or by this Code is prohibited, and therefore, doing business with third parties who intentionally and continuously violate the law or the standards related to this Code is not allowed.

15. Suppliers and subcontractors

In the engagement of suppliers and subcontractors, GRUPO RAX prioritizes those that demonstrate a strong commitment to Supply Chain Security, reputation, quality, compliance, technical competence, and competitive pricing, as well as practices aligned with ESG criteria, including environmental, social, and corporate governance responsibility.

Whenever applicable, practices aimed at reducing environmental impacts, improving logistics efficiency, ensuring climate responsibility, and maintaining socio-environmental compliance throughout the supply chain will be taken into consideration.

All engagements must ensure full traceability and be available for legal review whenever necessary, at any time, always in compliance with the specific procedures applicable to this activity.

Partnerships are established exclusively with suppliers whose practices are consistent with the ethical standards and social morality adopted, preserving both their own image and that of GRUPO RAX, with mutual respect and confidentiality of information, under penalty of termination of the partnership.

16. General data protection law

The use of information classified as confidential should be solely for professional purposes, and it is prohibited to use them for personal benefit or for the benefit of third parties for purposes other than the one for which the information was disclosed/received.

The confidentiality of information is required from all of us at the RAX GROUP during and after the validity of the contract establishing the connection with the company.

To regulate the use of data and protect them in accordance with the General Data Protection Law (Law 13,709/18), a "Privacy Policy" has been established and is available on the RAX GROUP website (www.gruporax.com.br), in electronic form, accessible to all.

17. Whistleblower Channel

The RAX GROUP provides a Whistleblower Channel on its website, www.gruporax.com.br, with the option of Anonymous Reporting, and also through email: compliance@raxbrasil.com.br, where employees, subcontractors, business partners, customers, public officials, and anyone interested can report suspicions related to any situation they consider to be conflicting, whether related to work, contracts, abusive acts, situations involving risk to life, risk to one's health or that of their colleagues, or the community to which the company is directly or indirectly connected through its business.

Reports should contain the minimum necessary information for the continuation of investigations, even those made anonymously.

The RAX GROUP commits to preserving the integrity of the employee or whistleblower, ensuring that there are no retaliations resulting from the reports, and ensuring confidentiality in handling these matters. The company also commits to investigating reported cases and maintaining the anonymity of the whistleblower. A systematic process for handling these reports is established in the Concerns and Reports Handling Procedure, overseen by the Risk Management Management Committee.

18. Code of Conduct Management

All employees must have full knowledge and access to the provisions of this Code of Conduct and make an effort to understand its guidelines and instructions and put them into practice. All current employees and those who may be admitted in the future must sign an agreement declaring that they have read this Code of Conduct and consent to comply with its provisions.

Similarly, all those who may have a relationship with the RAX GROUP, whether as suppliers, partners, customers, or under any other designation, must sign an agreement stating that they are aware of the provisions in this Code of Conduct and commit to observing them. Failure to comply may result in the dissolution of the relationship between the RAX GROUP and these individuals and/or companies.

19. Risk Management Management Committee

The Risk Management Management Committee is responsible for ensuring the effectiveness and compliance with this Code of Conduct. It promotes the necessary procedures for its implementation, clarifies any doubts about its content, and addresses possible situations where ethical conduct may be questioned. The committee is also responsible for reviewing the Code of Conduct when necessary, analyzing complaints, deciding on matters submitted for consideration, and mediating conflicts with the goal of promoting a harmonious work environment conducive to success.

Committee meetings will be held as needed, with the relevant personnel responsible for the area under analysis being invited to attend. The Risk Management Management Committee is an advisory, decision-making, and normative body that aims to ensure adherence to and compliance with the ethical principles defined by this Code of Conduct.

The Committee is also responsible for monitoring matters related to ESG risks, including climate risks, psychosocial risks, corporate integrity, employee well-being, and compliance with applicable health, safety, and sustainability standards.

20. Disciplinary Measures

Violations of the guidelines established in this Code may result in the application of disciplinary measures: WARNING, SUSPENSION, and TERMINATION.

In the case of business partners, the violation of any guideline contained in this Code, once investigated and confirmed, will constitute a breach of trust and may lead to contract termination.

The RAX GROUP reserves the right to take the necessary administrative and/or legal actions to seek compensation or damages caused by any illegal act committed by an employee, supplier, service provider, or partner in violation of the guidelines of this Code.

The application of any of these measures should be carried out promptly following the committed offense. A longer period may be allowed for applying the penalty when the offense requires an investigation of facts and responsibilities. The disciplinary measure should be fair, reasonable, and proportionate to the offense committed.

It is the responsibility of all employees to report any misconduct and suspicion of violations of the principles and provisions defined in this Code of Conduct, regardless of who the suspected offender may be.

The content of reports should be as comprehensive as possible to facilitate the initiation of any investigative procedures. The Risk Management Management Committee is committed to not disclosing the identity of the individual reporting the alleged irregularity. Proven violations will lead to various disciplinary measures in line with the severity of the offense, which may result in the termination, exclusion, or contractual termination of the employee. In the case of suppliers, partners, or customers, a breach of this Code of Conduct may lead to immediate contract termination and/or the dissolution of the partnership.
